

HEART and HOME PROBLEMS

MRS. ELIZABETH THOMPSON

Dear Mrs. Thompson: (1) Is it proper for a gentleman to offer a lady gum?

(2) If you should have a gentleman call on you and ask you to go to some place of entertainment, and a lady friend should call, would it be proper for you to ask the lady friend to join without the permission of the gentleman friend?

(3) I am bashful and especially when with gentlemen friends. How can I overcome this?

(4) What is the proper thing for a gentleman to say when asking a lady to be his bride?

(5) I have been going with a gentleman for some time and as he lives a little distance from me he does not call very often, but still he does not want me to have other gentlemen friends. Do you think he loves me?

ANXIOUS READER.

(1) There is no harm in it.

(2) You should ask his permission, especially if it would mean that he must spend money for the lady friend as well as for yourself.

(3) Forget yourself and try to interest the man.

(4) Whatever is in his heart. He will probably tell you that he loves you and wishes you for his wife.

(5) He is certainly interested in you, though whether he loves you or is merely jealous it is hard to say. However, my dear, don't give up all your men friends unless this man actually proposes to you and you agree to marry him.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a girl of 16 and am very bashful.

(1) How can I overcome that?

(2) What should a girl say when being introduced to a boy?

(3) Is Warren Kerrigan, leading man in moving pictures, married? L. T.

(4) Stop thinking about your own feelings, my dear. Don't think that everybody is watching you all the time.

to see what you do. They don't. They are too busy thinking of something more important to themselves. Try to be interesting to others and you will forget about yourself.

(2) If he tells you that he is pleased to meet you, you might answer that the pleasure is mutual.

(3) I do not know, but he probably is; most actors and actresses are very thoroughly married and satisfied with their mates.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: (1) How do you clean switches? Do you think strong coffee is good?

(2) Do you think that rosewater, glycerine and lemon juice will whiten the face and neck?

(3) How often should I wash my hair? I wash it twice a month, because it is very greasy.

(4) Do you think hair will get thick after an egg shampoo?

FRIEND.

(1) Wash the switch very much as you do your own hair. Make a warm sud and some the switch up and down in it until it is clean, rinsing it well. Squeeze water out and hang up in a current of air to dry. I do not think the coffee would do any harm. It might darken the switch.

(2) Not very much. Use lemon juice pure or slightly diluted with rosewater, to take off tan.

(3) Every two or three weeks is often enough. Rub a little witch hazel into the scalp if the hair is too oily.

(4) The egg shampoo keeps the hair in good condition, but does not make the hair grow particularly.

Following the devotional services and a short business meeting an informal program was given which consisted of a piano solo by Miss Nellie Brien, a story read by Mrs. W. G. Oglevee and a song by Miss Alice Swann. Miss Olive Berger then read a story and it was acted in pantomime by Miss Florence Weigand, Ralph Lemon and Arthur Colburn. Pumpkin pie and coffee were served at the close of the program.

BRISMAN-YEAMAN.

MISS OPAL YEAMAN, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Yeaman, 602 Thirtieth street, and Bert W. Brisman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Brisman, 1412 Tenth street, Moline, were married Saturday evening at 7:30 at the parsonage of the Moline Swedish Lutheran church, the Rev. A. F. Bergstrom officiating. This will come as a surprise to many of the friends of the young people. Mr. and Mrs. Brisman will probably locate in Moline.

SOCIETY HAS DEBATE.

THE YOUNG PEOPLE'S SOCIETY of the German Evangelical church held a largely attended meeting last evening at the church and enjoyed a debate on the subject, "Should Women Vote?" The leaders were Fred Krueger and John Bysinger, and much enthusiasm was aroused in the subject, though neither side was given a victory. Light refreshments were served during the evening.

WHITNEY-OSBORNE.

REV. F. J. ROLE, AT THE PARSONAGE of the German Evangelical church, last evening at 8 o'clock officiated at the marriage of Mrs. Merle Osborne and Harry Whitney, both of Cedar Rapids. They were accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Harry Gaumn. Mr. Whitney is a carpenter at Cedar Rapids.

BETA DELTA SIGMA CLUB MEETS.

MISS STELLA BECK AT HER home, 510 Fourteenth and a-half street, was the hostess to the Beta Delta Sigma girls last evening. Plans were made for a party to be given in two weeks at the home of Miss Nathalie Holmes, 836 Twenty-fifth street, when they will enjoy a spread. The business meeting was followed by a social hour and lunch was served.

SURPRISE MRS. BRUHN.

A COMPANY of 30 RELATIVES and friends carried out a delightful surprise on Mrs. Fred Bruhn at her home on Ninth street and Fourteenth avenue, yesterday. They took with them provisions for a delicious supper that was served at 6 o'clock. Mrs. Bruhn was presented with a number of pretty dolls.

MUSIC STUDENTS MEET.

A MEETING of the MUSIC STUDENTS' club was held at the home of Mrs. Alfred Mueller in Davenport. The program was given by Mrs. Mueller, soprano and Mrs. T. D. Starbuck, piano. The next meeting will be held at the home of Miss Emeline Huber in this city.

SOCIAL ANNOUNCEMENTS.

The Busy Bee Sewing society will meet Thursday afternoon at Odd Fellows' hall. Mrs. George Clapper and Mrs. Dave Cleland will be the hostesses.

Inflammatory Rheumatism Quickly Relieved.

Morton L. Hill of Lebanon, Ind., says: "My wife had inflammatory rheumatism in every muscle and joint; her suffering was terrible and her body and face were swollen all beyond recognition; had been in bed for six weeks and had eight physicians, but received no benefit until she tried Dr. Detchem's Relief for Rheumatism. It gave immediate relief and she was able to walk in three days. I am sure it saved her life." TELEPHONE LINES BEING IMPROVED

Officials of Company Guard Service Against Damage by Hail and Sleet.

Many new improvements have been made for Rock Island by the Central Union Telephone company. The establishing of service with several independent companies, namely: Taylor Ridge, Reynolds and Preemption, gave telephone service to the entire county at a very low rate.

As a protection against the rigors of the approaching winter, the Central Union Telephone company is rehabilitating its toll line between Peoria and Geneseo. When completed, the work will have cost close to $14,000.

The Peoria-Geneseo toll line is 123 miles long and takes care of the toll traffic in 15 towns. Plans for the rehabilitation work cover the entire distance of the line and include the replacement of old poles and wires where necessary, the strengthening of other poles by resetting, and the stringing of new lines in some places.

Besides Peoria and Geneseo, towns along the line that will benefit by the improvement are Munson, Utah, Bishop Hill, Galva, Lafayette, Toulon, Wyoming, Bradford, Duncan, Princeville, Edelstein, Dunlap and Mossville.

An entire new line will be built between Wyoming and Bradford. Along the lines running from Geneseo to Woodhull Junction, south of Bishop Hill, and from Galva to Mossville, most of the poles have about finished their usefulness and will have to be replaced. Altogether about 70 miles of new wire will be strung by the telephone company.

The line improvements will not only greatly increase the transmission efficiency between all the points thereon, but will make the lines as storm-proof as possible. Thus the telephone company not only protects itself, but in so far as possible insures long-distance telephone users against loss of service from storm-damaged lines.

Last winter telephone property in Illinois and Indiana was damaged to the extent of half a million dollars by severe sleet storms. Poles and wires were down everywhere in the storm zone and in some places in the open country toll lines were completely obliterated. Of course, all these lines were promptly restored and service reestablished in short order, but there are still some rather weak spots in some places and the telephone company is strengthening these as rapidly

LOCAL HERO GIVEN A CARNEGIE MEDAL

Thomas J. Mills.

Thomas J. Mills, 1528 Thirtieth street, this city, was among the Illinoisans who won Carnegie medals and an award of $1,000 as needed. Mr. Mills helped to save Andrew Boggs, shot firer, and assisted in an attempt to rescue Edward Wyatt from suffocation in a mine at Gilchrist, Ill. Boggs recovered and Wyatt died.

Newspaper Advertisement Points Way to Health.

I can truthfully say that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root is a very good medicine, not alone for kidney trouble, but also for weak and sore back, as well as for rheumatism.

About a year ago I became ill and unable to work, my trouble being a lame back. I read of your Swamp-Root in the newspaper and in an Almanac. Believing it would do me good, I went to my drugstore, Mr. Skinner, and purchased a bottle. Finding relief in one 50-cent bottle, I purchased several more and in a short time was able to continue with my work and am today feeling well and strong. I always recommend Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root to my friends, as I believe it is as good a medicine as can be found.

as possible, regardless of cost, before cold weather comes on.

The Peoria-Geneseo line suffered some damage from last winter's storm, but when the rehabilitation work is finished, the toll line will be better able to withstand the winter storms than it was in the early part of this year.

PERSONAL POINTS

Miss Henrietta Flannigan is visiting her sister, Mrs. Bert Chapman at Omaha, Neb.

Captain and Mrs. R. S. McKenzie, whose marriage took place at Cleveland, Ohio, Oct. 30, at the home of the bride's son, Clayton F. McDonald, have arrived in the city for a visit to Mrs. McKenzie's children, Charles L. McDonald and Mrs. Joseph Ritz. Captain McKenzie is Indian agent for the Canadian government, having been in the service 26 years. Captain and Mrs. McKenzie will leave in a few days for Kenora, Ont., where they will make their home.

TRI-CITY TRACK MIGHT BE USED

City Commission Asks R. I. S. to Investigate Proposition at Informal Session.

Members of the city commission met this morning with E. C. Walsh, Jr., of the Rock Island Southern to discuss the provisions of the proposed franchise. The council took the position that a clause should be inserted in the measure requiring the company to maintain and be responsible for any damage done the Fifth avenue sewer should permission be granted the company to enter the city by that route.

A number of local contractors are to be asked by the commission to investigate the sewer and ascertain in what shape it is at the present time and how long it will probably last. The commission also asked that the position of the traction company relative to entering the city over the Tri-City Railway tracks be learned and Mr. Walsh will return with an answer in a few days. It was stated that such an arrangement might be made.

AN OPTICAL ILLUSION.

Apparent Size of the Moon at the Horizon and at the Zenith.

The moon's larger appearance when near the horizon as compared with its size at the zenith is really an optical illusion, and accurate angular measurements have shown that it is actually a trifle smaller when low down, as it should be on account of being a little more distant.

Adding a new attempt at explanation, Dr. M. Ponzio, an Italian psychologist, compares this with an illusion already represented by E. T. Sanford, another psychologist. Two straight lines are brought together at an acute angle at one end, two exactly equal circles being then drawn between the lines, when the circle nearer the apex appears decidedly the larger, but the illusion lessens as the angle is made less acute.

As the celestial bodies near the horizon, they appear in the angle formed by the earth and the declining arc of the sky. The conditions are just those of the artificial lines and circles, and its enlargement in the narrowing angle is a contrast the moon conspicuously brings out as compared with the spectacle it presents in the free sky.

The fact that the apparent enlargement is not always the same may be due to changes in the angle by clouds or vapors.—Denver Republican.

HE WAS AN OUTLAW.

And Presumed to Violate the Rules of the Canal Zone.

Almost as important in the work of building the Panama canal as the blue eyed czar at Culebra (by which title Mr. Harry A. Franck, in "Zone Policeman 88," distinguishes Colonel Goe-thals), was Colonel Gorgas, who made and kept the zone a healthy place. Among the colonel's big tasks was the extermination of the mosquito. How thoroughly he did his work is humorously indicated by a letter that Mr. Franck quotes:

Gatun. — Dec. 1912.
Dear Colonel—I am writing to call your attention to a gross violation of sanitary ordinance No. 321 and an apparent loophole in your otherwise excellent department. The circumstances are as follows: On the evening of — 21, as I was sitting at the roadside between Gatun and New Gatun (some sixty-three paces beyond house No. 226), there appeared a mosquito which buzzed openly for some time about my ears. It was probably merely a male of the species, as it showed no tendency to bite, but a mosquito nevertheless. I trust you will take fitting measures to punish so bold and insolent a violation of the rules of your department. I am, sir, very truly yours.

P. S.—The mosquito was easily recognized by a peculiarly triumphant, defiant note in his song.

Mental Growth.

One factor which seems to distinguish superior from ordinary families is that, while members of the latter seem almost to stop growing at about the age of thirty-five, the lives of the former deepen and expand even into the vanishing years of old age. A visitor returns to the village after an absence of ten years. He is shocked at the relative standstill of a large part of the population. This lack of development after the age of thirty-five or forty represents primarily an innate deficiency in the protoplasm of the nervous system. It is a psychological fact undoubtedly of eugenic import. Superior individuals exhibit a lengthening of the period of plasticity and growth. Their personalities are correspondingly the richer from experience.—American Magazine.

DOMESTIC SCIENCE DEPARTMENT

CONDUCTED BY MRS. ALICE OFFICEL, KRM.

HOME INTEREST IS INCREASING IN AMERICA.

Eagerness is a mild term for the keen desire which women, whether east, west, north or south, manifest for every possible help pertaining to domestic science. They are slowly but surely awakening to the great responsibility which rests upon them in buying and cooking for their families. We can not even say "directing it done," any more, when statistics tell us that nearly 80 per cent of the women in this country have no help in their homes. They do their own buying and cooking and they have come to a realizing sense that it is a most honorable position to hold, and it is up to them to know it better than ever before. Many members of audiences in all the large cities where I have talked have been women with 20 or 40 years of experience but as hungry as children to be shown the science of foods and housekeeping. Again many are the brides of a few months or a few years.

Now this is the best part of it. Women are wanting help and they are getting it wherever they can find it. There is a happiness about it, a joy in it that is wonderful to see. They are helpful to each other. Women who have never seen each other in their lives before quickly recognize a common interest and are helpfully, withingly and cheerfully giving their experience to others, and as they give so they receive.

I find also, with the vast army of women, that they are not specially eager for demonstrations of cooking that is "fearfully and wonderfully made," and so intricate that not one of them could go home that night and make one of the dishes from a start to finish. But we do have coming in every day samples of bread, cake and biscuits, for criticism, the makers wishing to learn why it is good or poor, and when wrong trying again and again if necessary until they have mastered it.

There is no such thing as luck in cooking and now that women have begun to realize it, that is one of the reasons for their interest in a science which is definite and worth while.

If there were some way to stop newspaper and magazine articles from harping on housework as a "monotonous grind," "drudgery," "narrowing sphere," or other like terms, which men would not think of allowing in connection with their business, the coming generation of young women would incline more readily to it. It is natural for a woman to be domestic and like the home and all that goes with it. But this does not hinder her from having many broadening interests outside. It's good for her and widens her viewpoint. She will meet obstacles in the home and if she is a live, bright, healthy woman they will be met cheerfully and she will be all the stronger for having mastered them.

The Argus Daily Pattern

Here the Ubiquitous Butterfly Completes a Sash.

One of the daintiest, most feminine of trappings now favored is the butterfly. Of lace or ribbon it nods from the chic tailored hat; of sequins and net it completes the evening coiffure or trims the gown. In making a sash the temptation is very great to have a butterfly bow in front or back, as the new ribbons and silks with their bright Oriental hues are perfectly suited to butterflies.

Another design attractive in its simplicity is shown in 7711. The blouse is slightly draped, and there is an under-blouse of net. Black satin trimmed with the tiny lace frilling and a butterfly sash was used in the illustration.

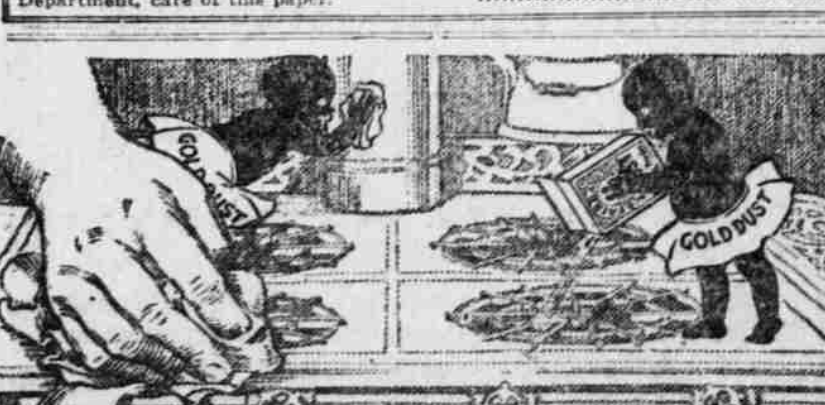

Size 36 requires for this model four and three-fourths yards of thirty-six inch material.

MISS LEE FOR MISS PAYNE.

MISS DOROTHY LEE, AT HER home, 727 Twentieth street, was the hostess yesterday afternoon at a delightful party to honor Miss Mabel Payne, a bride of the week. Auction bridge was the game played at three tables. The honoree was given a beautiful favor at the close of the games. The house was made bright and attractive with pink and white decorations, lovely chrysanthemums carrying out the color scheme. A luncheon was served at the close of the afternoon.

MEET AT SOUTH PARK CHURCH.

THE YOUNG PEOPLE'S SOCIETY of South Park Presbyterian church held a well attended and very enjoyable meeting last evening at the church. Miss Willis presided and fol-
